To Whom It May Concern:

In my current position at Walt Disney Studios I am asked to evaluate the quality and potential of scripted material for both television and film. My advice is considered beneficial and decisions of substantial value are made with my input.

Evaluating script material is a skill I acquired with the guidance of Casey Williams. I have known Casey for over five years. I find Casey to be an honest and dependable person as well as an endless resource of screenwriting and production knowledge. I encourage you to depend on his expertise as I have.
